Special Subscription Notice

As the result of constantly rising prices the UBS have found it necessary to reconsider the subscription price of the already heavily subsidized publication TBT, which you may know has had a subscription rate of only:

£-.5.-; $0,75; Dutch f2,65 per year since its beginning nine years ago.

We therefore are obliged to adjust the subscription price to a somewhat more realistic figure of:

£-.10.-; $1,50; Dutch f5,30 per year, though of course any payments which you may already have made, even for years to come, will be honored.

We are however providing for students of Universities, Seminaries, Bible Schools, etc., a discount of 30 % so as to encourage a wider circulation among persons who we sincerely hope will become increasingly interested in Bible translating as a lifetime ministry.

It has been encouraging to see the response of so many persons to this Journal and we trust that in the years to come we can continue to provide an even more effective instrument for sharing with people throughout the world the problems and developments in the field of Bible translating.
